STEWART TO GRAND JURY

Indicted on the Charge of Killing and Burning Miss \ Bolling.

BACK. TO

PETERSBURG

Sent to That City for Safekeeping, Stewart Claiming There Were Threats of Lynching.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

JARRATT'S, VA., Sept. 2.—The Bolling-Stuart murder trial was resumed today after the arrival of the mid-day trains. The largest crowd yet assemest in all of the proceedings. There was some disappointment manifest when it was learned that Mrs. Bolling, mother of the murdered girl, on account of feeble health, could not not attend. A phy sician's certificate was read, which stated that Mrs. Bolling was in very feeble health, and if the trip was made she would have to be accompanied by a nurse.

MRS. BOLLING PARALYZED.

partially para MRS. BOLLING PARALYZED, Mrs. Bolling was partially paralyzed a few years back, which accounts in a measure for her feeble health. But few other witnesses were examined. Commonwealth's Attorney Cocke was present, and being put upon the stand as a witness, produced a plece of the murdered girl's clothing given him at the first trial, which appeared to have been saturated with oil.

rated with oil.

The prosecution has worked on the theory that kerosone was used in burning the body. The defense has so far not introduced a single witness, and in-not introduced a single witness, and in-sisted there was no case against the prisoner and plead for his release.

Mr. Buford spoke against this course.

THREATS OF LYNCHING.

It was decided by the court to send the prisoner on for trial in the County Court, and ordered that the prisoner be taken to the Petersburg jail for safe keeping.

the prisoner seems to prefer the Fetersburg jall to that of this county, and said at the outset of this trial that he had heard of threats being made to lynch him if he were confined in this jall. Such fears are perhaps groundless, and it is generally thought that he will be perfectly safe there.

STRUCK IN THE FOREHEAD BY BLOW OF AN AXE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
GREEN BAY, VA., Sept. 2.—While at work at Stony Knoll, near here to-day with Mr. Winklar, Mr. Perkins was accidentally struck with an axe in the ferchead, receiving probably fatal injuries. The two men were driving post, when Winklar's axe slipped just as he aimed to strike the post, litting All. Perkins squarely in the forehead, inflicting a terrible wound. Dr. Young was at once summoned, and upon his arrival did all in his power for the unfortunate man. It cannot be determined whether he will survive.

Many midnight hours have found us struggling through the mud and slush in front of our front fence, and many's the time we have threatened to change our place of abode.

But now with our old friends back on the companies of the

the committee, we think we shall have that pavement.

Treasurer Leo Wise is already here, and we have a hunch that things will go along nicely all this season.

We are glad we are on visiting terms with Manager Leath.

Dave Kline is on his way this way. He comes to let theatregoers here know all about Howard Hall's new play, and we feel that we will have a chance to get even with him for the way he treated us in New York a week or two ago. In the morning or the night by the light of her eyes, Or the moon, or the stars in the rub skles, You arise from your bed with a

in your head,
And you jump on the cook 'cau

burned the bread,
Which you wouldn't do, indeed, if your family were at home.
And the cok simply says, the bread
never rez.
She invites you to walk, or to run or to And that's how a happy family is broken up in the summer time.
